GOOD NUDES FOR CARA!

A BILLBOARD ad showing supermodel Cara Delevingne naked has been cleared by watchdogs. The perfume ad shows the 22-year-old star, who won Model of the Year at the British Fashion Awards in 2012 and 2014, lying naked in a pool of water exposing side-boob as well as her cracking buttocks. Two people complained after seeing the billboard ad for Tom Ford's Black Orchid perfume on the corner of a building in Brick Lane in east London. But bosses at the Advertising Standards Agency have refused to ban the ad, saying it is only "sexually suggestive" and not "sexually explicit". They decided that, despite Delevingne "clearly being naked" and showing "much of one of her breasts and a profile of her buttocks", the ad was not offensive.

Thousands turn out for tragic Karen

THE emotional funeral of murdered Karen Buckley heard of the indescribable hurt and pain of on her family by an utterly inappropriate death. Amid heartbreaking scenes in her native Mounseabbey, near Mallow, Co Cork, the tragic student's brothers placed a photo of her as a child starting school by her coffin along with her nurse uniform. Ms Buckley's local church wasn't big enough for the crowds that turned out to bid her a final farewell, including those who'd travelled from Scotland. A loudspeaker had to be used so those outside could hear the service. A large marquee set up on the church grounds was also packed out. Irish PM Enda Kenny was represented at the funeral, while junior government minister Darragh Murphy and the Lord Mayor of Cork, Mary Shields, also turned out to pay their respects. Ms Buckley was buried alongside her grandparents after the funeral service in nearby Buncfort Cemetery.

Snow joke as country is hit by big freeze

PARTS of Britain were hit by snowstorms yesterday as an Arctic blast sent temperatures plunging. Just weeks after the warmest April day in four years, the balmy weather has given way to wintry conditions. Around 3cm of snow is covering the Highlands of Scotland (pictured) after storms hit the north of Britain, while the Pennines and Northern Ireland have also been struck by sleet and snow showers. And there was more bad news as forecasters warned that the unsettled weather is set to last, putting paid to hopes of an early summer.

ED MILI-BRAND

Cam slams rival's chat with Russell

DAVID CAMERON has ripped into comedian Russell Brand, labelling him a "joke" who was WRONG to tell people not to vote.

Just days before the General Election, Labour leader Ed Miliband was pictured leaving Brand's £2million home after the pair met for an interview which he hoped would make the campaign "more interesting".

Brand has faced severe criticism - including from senior Labour figures - for saying he has never voted. But Cameron insists the forthcoming election is "not funny" and he doesn't have the time to "hang out" with celebrities. Brand has tried to reinvent himself as a self-styled revolutionary, calling for massive redistribution of wealth.

In an interview 18 months ago, he told the BBC: "I don't vote - but that's not out of apathy. I don't vote out of absolute indifference and exhaustion from the lies, treachery and deceit of the political class that has been going on for generations."

Revelation

Despite polls suggesting the election is still too close to call, Miliband appears to have found time to meet one person who has no intention of supporting him on May 7. Cameron seized on the revelation as he stepped up criticism of his rival. The Tory leader said: "Russell Brand says don't vote. That's his whole view - don't vote, it would only encourage them or something."

"That's funny, it's funny. But politics and life and elections and jobs and the economy is not a joke."

"Russell Brand's a joke. Ed Miliband hangs out with Russell Brand, he's a joke."

"This is about the election, this is about our future. It's about jobs, it's about the economy, recovery."

"I haven't got time to hang out with Russell Brand. This is more important, these are real people."

Miliband defended his decision to do an interview with Brand for his YouTube channel, The Trews.

He said: "Some people were saying the campaign was too boring, so I thought I'd make it more interesting."

NO JOKE: Miliband's chat with Brand has angered Cameron

Finns attack mystery sub

THE Finnish military has dropped depth charges in a suspected submarine in the sea outside Helsinki.

The navy's maritime operations chief, Olavi Jantunen, said they could not identify the "underwater object" but had begun an investigation, which could take weeks.

Parliamentary defence committee spokesman Jussi Niinistö said the military occasionally detects such activity, but described the use of depth charges as unusual. The intrusion comes in the wake of a lengthy hunt for a foreign sub in Swedish waters in October following increased military activity in the Baltic Sea region.

Swedish officials never blamed any country, but defence analysts said Russia was a likely culprit.

BRIT 'KILLED IN NEPAL QUAKE'

By NEIL GOODWIN
neil@sundaysport.co.uk

THE Foreign Office is looking into claims a British national was killed in the Nepal earthquake.

The news came after the death toll from Saturday's catastrophe passed 5,000, with the country's prime minister saying it could even hit 10,000.

Foreign Secretary Philip Hammond said: "We are urgently investigating unconfirmed reports of a non-UK resident British national having been killed."

"Our teams on the ground will report back to us as soon as they have any further information on that."

A British teenager who survived avalanches on Mount Everest has described the moment he thought he was going to be buried alive.

Alex Staniforth, 19, from Chester, was at Camp One on the world's highest peak when the quake hit, followed by Sunday's large aftershock which has hampered rescue efforts. The youngster said he was "lucky to be alive" after at least 18 people were killed on the mountain and 61 injured.

Describing his ordeal, Mr Staniforth said: "I was in the icefall when the ground shook."

"I couldn't run due to huge crevasses surrounding me. I was blinded, thrown to my knees and suffocated by what felt like a snow cannon."

"I thought, 'This is it - I'm going to be buried.'"

POLDARK babe Heida Reed says she's keen to get NAKED on screen!

The brunette (above), who played Elizabeth Chynoweth in the BBC1 drama series, has so far kept her curves under wraps.

But the 27-year-old says it's only a matter of time before she gets her nipples out.

She explained: "With me, it's not being naked as a principle that is a problem, it's more like it would be a personal hang-up or insecurity that I don't want to be naked – because I don't like that bit of my body."

"But I don't think that's a good enough reason to not get naked."

"I don't think women having their top off should be such a big deal."

Heida is even a supporter of the 'Free the Nipple' movement, adding: "It was weird because I wanted to participate but at the same time I was like, I don't know if I could handle the publicity."

NEW Geordie Shore babe Chloe Etherington once pissed in a popcorn maker because she was too drunk to go to the toilet.

The 19-year-old, who also wet herself in last week's episode of the hit MTV show, said: "I got home once and couldn't wait to go to the toilet."

"So I weed in the popcorn maker!"

"My mam was like: 'What the hell is that – have you made some apple juice?'"

"I was like, 'you want to put that in the bin, pet!'"

And speaking about her recent accident in the Geordie Shore house, she added:

"I find it really hard to walk when I'm drunk."

"I only wet myself because I was laughing."

STRAIGHT TALKING

FROM UKIP'S DEPUTY LEADER

Act 1st think 2nd UK foreign policy

ED Miliband was taken to task for suggesting David Cameron's military intervention in Libya had something to do with the humanitarian crisis currently engulfing the Mediterranean.

The Press were right to jump all over Miliband, but not because he was wrong – but because he is an absolute hypocrite.

Miliband and his cronies voted with the Coalition government and supported the bombing of Libya.

It's a bit rich for him to now claim that Cameron's appetite for military intervention and what has happened since has nothing whatsoever to do with himself.

UKIP are in a different position. We can criticise the Government's actions in Libya with a clear conscience as we were opposed to the bombing at the time.

We argued that it made no sense to be handing over weapons to the so-called 'rebels' in Libya before finding out who they actually were.

Indeed, the Iraqi and Turkish governments had warned us that their numbers included Islamic fundamentalists...but did we listen? No.

We went ahead and we bombed Colonel Gaddafi's forces and handed over heavy weapons to the rebels, who according to our government were peaceful democracy-loving folk being persecuted by Gaddafi.

No one can deny the dictator was a brutal and evil man. But to suggest butter wouldn't melt in mouths of the rebels, as the BBC seemed to do every single night on the news, was absolute crap.

And the proof is now in the pudding, because since Gaddafi was toppled and murdered on the bonnet of a car, Libya has become one of the most dangerous places on the planet.

I warned that this would happen on Question Time in February 2012, while at the same time the then Foreign Secretary William Hague was calling Libya 'a great success'.

I warned that Libya was made up of over a hundred tribes – many with ancient scores to settle – who were now armed to the teeth with weapons that WE had given them.

And then these so-called cuddly rebels smashed up British war graves in Benghazi as a thank you to us for ridding them of their dictator and arming them to the hilt.

It was obvious at that point to anyone with half a brain that Libya would slide into civil war once its strongman leader had been removed.

So what has happened since?

Firstly, Libya now has two governments – the official one which has to meet on a boat off the coast of Tobruk, and that of the Islamists that overran the capital Tripoli.

Secondly, once Gaddafi went, the people traffickers moved in which is why we have so many people making their way through Libya in an effort to get to Europe.

Libya has become a conduit of human misery, and we helped create it by removing a wicked dictator without first realising that what was going to come next could be even worse.

It was yet another example of the act first, think second foreign policy we have been following since the beginning of the century.

Justin Dunn's Room 101 WHAT'S ANNOYING HIM THIS WEEK?

Beeb's licence to print euros

MILLIONS of people in Britain do the same thing as me when they wake every morning.

Pick up their mobile phones, check how many people hate them on Facebook, scan through their spam mail, and flick through the headlines on the BBC app.

Yesterday morning there was a story about search giant Google offering to pay certain news outlets a sum of money supposedly to encourage them to make more dosh from their online offerings.

It was the way the Beeb reported it that got my goat.

The story began: "Google has pledged to give 150 million euro ($163m, £107m) to European news publishers and journalism-focused start-ups over the next three years."

The last time I looked, the UK was not in the Eurozone, and never, ever has been.

Quite why our national broadcaster should report financial figures to us primarily in euros before pounds is mystifying.

Unless I've missed something, we're not part of the United States, either.

But the Beeb still seems to think that dollars, while apparently subservient to the euro, nonetheless take higher billing than the humble British pound.

Is the BBC not funded by British licence fee payers who fork out for it – under threat of punishment – in sterling?

People who live in the Eurozone do not pay the licence fee. Nor do our friends in the United States.

So why does the Beeb use those currencies first when reporting on financials?

The dollar question is perhaps most likely to appeal to its audience in the wider world.

But the euro puzzler is slightly more underhand – because as Auntie receives some funding from the EU, it is duty bound to promote EU activities.

Teetering

One of those activities is being in the Eurozone – the monetary union that currently has the likes of Greece, Spain, Italy and Portugal right up shit creek. No matter that the euro is a failing, flailing currency that has countries teetering on the brink of bankruptcy.

No matter that the very people forced to pay for the BBC live in a country that is very much outside of the euro.

Your state broadcaster will still tell you how much things are worth first in euros, then in dollars, and finally in pounds.

Next time someone tells you the BBC is an unbiased news provider, ask them how they paid their licence fee – in dollars or euros?

Looking for business?

FOUR years ago I decided to get some business cards printed up. After finding a firm online that seemed to be cheap as chips, I nevertheless somehow ended up spending £40 or so for 1,000 of them.

Ever since, on an almost daily basis, I've received emails from the company asking if I want more cards/mugs/mouse mats/toilet roll with my moniker on it.

I haven't replied. I won't ever reply.

Not least because I've still got about 900 of the bloody things from the first time.

Mariah on song for Vegas gigs

SINGER Mariah Carey has swept into Las Vegas in style to begin a residency at one of the city's most famous casinos.

The Dreamlover star arrived in the gambling mecca ahead of her first concert at Caesars Palace on May 6, declaring she was starting the shows with "a clean slate". Carey, 45, was driven into the casino in a classic pale pink 1936 Auburn Boat-tail, behind 18 mobile billboards on trucks, marking each of her 18 number one singles.

Dressed in a flesh coloured sequinned gown, she was mobbed by screaming fans desperate to take photographs before being carried through the casino to the Colosseum concert venue by men dressed as Roman centurions.

Afterwards, she said that the concerts – as well as the accompanying album of chart-topping hits and a new single – would mark a fresh start.

She said: "The fans have got me here and it's about embracing all fans from all over the world, welcoming them to come and visit us here."

A JOBLESS man was found dead in his car after shooting himself through the head with a crossbow.

Andrew Budd had worked for his father's consultancy firm in the oil and gas industry from 2000 to 2013.

An inquest in Gravesend, Kent, heard how the 33-year-old quit his job at Target Finders Ltd in Chipstead, Kent, when his dad announced that he was retiring, complaining work was "too stressful".

Mr Budd was found dead by a passer-by in his Mazda RX-8 in a field by a country lane in Wrotham, Kent, on January 6.

His body, with a crossbow bolt through his head, was in the passenger seat.

Coroner Roger Hatch returned a verdict that Mr Budd took his own life.

MAYFAIR HONEYTRAP KILLER GETS 16 YEARS

A WOMAN was jailed for 16 years yesterday for setting a honey trap which led to the "pitiless and wicked" murder of a professional gambler for his winnings.

Care assistant Leonie Granger, 25, deliberately ensnared 56-year-old Mehmet Hassan in March last year after meeting him in a Mayfair casino.

Following a trial at the Old Bailey, she was found guilty of Mr Hassan's manslaughter and false imprisonment, having earlier admitted a plot to rob him.

Stamped

Her boyfriend, Kyron Jackson, 28, and his friend Nicholas Chandler, 29, repeatedly kicked and stamped on Mr Hassan after Granger let them into his home. They left him with multiple broken bones, lying face down in his bedroom drowning in his own blood.

The pair were found guilty of his murder and were yesterday jailed for life with a minimum term of 36 years.

Sentencing, Judge William Kennedy described the attack as "pitiless and wicked", adding: "It was an act of brutality which defies reason and compassion."

In mitigation, Orlando Pownall QC said Granger

By EMILY PENNINK

had worked with the elderly since she was 18 and had only got involved with the plot because she was in love with Jackson and "fell in with his desires".

Mr Pownall said she now "deeply regretted" what had happened, adding: "Her head was turned by Mr Jackson who she loved and to some extent by Mr Chandler who was persuasive and superficially charming."

The judge said she had been "deceitful from the outset" and had "lost her sense and compassion" when she got involved in the scheme.

He added that she clearly cared more for Jackson than he cared for her.

The trial had heard how Mr Hassan was oblivious of the sting as he wined and dined the woman he knew as "Rachel", even bragging to his friends that he was not paying her to be with him.

Ransacked

After their first date, Granger, of Gillingham, Kent, was overheard by a taxi driver reporting back that Hassan was "flashy" and saying: "This guy is a professional gambler. He has never worked a day in his life."

On the night of the murder, Mr Hassan had taken Granger to the top Mayfair restaurant, Nobu, before going on to the Palm Beach Casino nearby, where he gave her £1,000 in cash to gamble with.

Granger was spotted by a poker supervisor kissing Mr Hassan "passionately".

Later, he took her back to his Islington flat where she made her excuses and left in a taxi – but not before letting in her boyfriend Jackson and his friend Chandler.

Using parcel tape, the two men tied up Mr Hassan in his bedroom then kicked him to death and ransacked his home as they searched for his stash of cash.

But the killers were filmed on Granger's mobile phone throwing wads of £50 notes around.

Mr Hassan often won as much as £15,000 at a time and rather than using bank accounts, he would keep his winnings around his flat, even keeping thousands of pounds in his microwave.

LINEKER ACCUSED AFTER 'POOR' LEICESTER TOP HIGHLIGHTS SHOW

FURIOUS football fans have accused the BBC of favouring Leicester in Match Of The Day coverage this season – because Gary Lineker supports the club.

On the past five Saturday night shows, Leicester have topped the MOTD running order three times and been shown second and fourth on the other occasions.

Only three clubs – the Premier League top three of Chelsea, Arsenal and Man City – have featured first, second or third more often than Lineker's beloved Foxes this season.

Nigel Pearson's side have struggled all season and currently sit one place above the bottom three in 17th position.

But they have been shown first four times, second once and third six times – making them more prominent even than fourth-placed Manchester United.

Their 1-0 win at Burnley was first up on Saturday despite MOTD pundit Alan Shearer referring to "two sides who were dire and the standard of football was really poor".

Lineker, who played almost 200 times and scored 95 goals for the Foxes, is among those consulted before the order is decided.

But he was at pains to stress their latest top billing was the "editor's choice".

That cut little ice with fans, though, who accused the BBC of bias. Sunderland supporter Peter Hewett asked:

"Did Leicester go first just because Lineker said so? Big match, yes, but it was a shocker."

Manchester City fan Ian Halliwell wrote: "Leicester on first. Bias Mr Lineker."

Meanwhile, journalist David Whittle tweeted: "Burnley v Leicester first up? If that's as good as it gets I might as well go to bed now."

The BBC yesterday denied any bias, with a spokesman saying: "The MOTD running order is always decided on the major talking points of the day."

'Honeytrap murder' teen given trial date

A TEENAGE girl accused of luring a 17-year-old boy to his death in a "honeytrap" murder plot will stand trial in July.

Sanaa Ibrahim, 18, was allegedly part of a plan to attack Jeremie Malenge in Homerton, east London, on January 6.

Mr Malenge, a former pupil of the Petchey Academy, who lived in Arcola Street, Hackney, was chased and stabbed to death by a group of youths in Ponsford Street at around 11.40am.

He suffered a stab wound to the chest and was pronounced dead at the scene.

Ibrahim is charged with murder along with a 14-year-old boy and two 17-year-old boys who cannot be named.

All four appeared at the Old Bailey for a plea hearing. Ibrahim and the two 17-year-old boys deny murder, and the 14-year-old will enter his plea on May 18.

The trial was scheduled for July 6 by judge Stephen Kramer QC and is expected to last five weeks.

Ibrahim, of Opal Apartments, Homerton Road, Hackney, the two 17-year-old boys, of Woodford Green, Essex, and Brixton, south west London, and the 14-year-old, of Stoke Newington, were remanded in custody.

ORVILLE STAR KEITH HARRIS DEAD AT 67

A MAN who spent his showbiz career with his fist up a duck's arse died yesterday at 67.

Ventriloquist Keith Harris, famous for his act with his puppet duck Orville, had cancer.

Robert C Kelly said Harris, whom he described as a "thoroughly decent man", was first diagnosed in 2013 and became ill again in January.

He said: "I spoke to Keith most days, whether we had business to do or not. I think I laughed every single time we spoke."

"Keith was not only a technically great ventriloquist, he was also a gifted mimic and an extraordinarily funny man, both on stage and off."

"Perhaps even rarer than that in showbiz, he was a thoroughly decent man, a great friend and a wonderful father and husband."

Mr Kelly said Harris, who died in hospital in Blackpool, spent his last months "at his second home in Portugal, taking walks along the Blackpool seafront and sitting in the park eating ice cream and watching the world go by".

Harris, who married four times, had three children.

Cuddles

He entertained generations of children with his sidekick Orville, a bright green duck who wore a nappy, and a monkey called Cuddles.

At the height of his fame, he was a regular on Saturday night telly and put on private performances at birthday parties for Prince William and his brother Harry.

His 1982 single with Orville, I Wish I Could Fly, was a top five hit and sold more than 400,000 copies.

The bad news is it looks like the end of the road for Orville, too.

Mr Kelly confirmed the bird would be "retired" and that there were no plans for Orville to appear at Keith's funeral.

He said: "There are no plans for Orville. That is the end."

Among those paying tribute were singer and broadcaster Aled Jones, who said: "Sad to hear of the death of Keith Harris."

Asked whether he was serious about enjoying ITV's dating show, hosted by Paddy McGuinness, Paxman replied: "I do!"

Meanwhile Karen also displays her stupendous BOOBS, which are all-natural and among the finest ever ogled on UK screens.

Amazingly, Karen's eye-popping performance was actually CUT from the American broadcast of the show, with Yank censors seemingly too prudish to approve of Karen's lovely jigging puppies.

ENCOUNTER!

Stars join the knicker-flash bandwagon

By NEIL GOODWIN

neil@sundaysport.co.uk

YOU don't need Superman-style X-ray specs to see through these babes' outfits – their clothes are a SHEER delight!

Earlier this week, blonde reality TV stunner Melissa Reeves, 23 (right), was spotted partying in London with a gaggle of her female mates.

The star of MTV's Ex On The Beach had onlookers gawping after wearing a transparent shirt that showcased her undies.

And Scouser Melissa isn't the only showbiz starlet to display her knickers in barely-there garments.

Last year, Rihanna, 27, donned a mesh frock to attend a top fashion awards bash, while Brit pin-up Cara Delevingne, 22, also dared to bare.

And a gaggle of other babes – including Katie Price, 36, Iggy Azalea, 24, Kate Moss, 41, and Abbey Clancy, 29 – also love showing the world their pants-clad gusset underneath their risqué dresses.

One fashion expert said: "Whether it's a net curtain or a bit of cling-film, outfits that show off your knickers are the new black, darling."

SOCCER ACE HELD OVER 'TAXI DRIVER HEAD BUTT'

ARRESTED: Ricky Miller was on his way home from a gay nightclub

A STRIKER for League Two side Luton Town has been arrested for allegedly HEADBUTTING a cabbie on a trip home from a gay nightclub.

Ricky Miller, who has netted two goals for the Hatters this season, was arrested at 4am on Monday morning after visiting the Pink Punters club in Milton Keynes, Bucks.

The venue – a well-known LGBT club – has room for 650 clubbers over three floors.

Miller, 26, was remanded in police custody on Monday after booking the taxi with a pal and asking the driver to take them on an 11-mile trip to a home in Dunstable.

Police confirmed that the alleged assault took place around seven miles from the nightclub in the village of Hockliffe, Bedfordshire, at 4am.

Mr Miller and his Luton team-mates had been celebrating their end-of-season awards ceremony earlier on Sunday at the club's Kenilworth Roadground before heading to Pink Punters.

Suspended

A spokesman for Bedfordshire Police said: "A 26-year-old man has been arrested on suspicion of assault after an incident in Hockliffe in the early hours of April 27."

A spokesman for Luton Town FC said: "Luton Town Football Club can confirm that Ricky Miller has been arrested following an alleged incident that took place on Sunday evening.

"Subsequently, Ricky has been suspended by the club pending a police enquiry."

"Luton Town FC takes any allegation against a player or member of staff very seriously."

"An internal investigation is now under way at the club and any player who is found guilty of misconduct will be disciplined appropriately."

"The club is unable to comment further at this stage."

The footballer has been released on bail until June 2 while cops investigate the alleged attack.

Gisele signs off in style!

SUPERMODEL Gisele Bündchen is going out with a bang – posing NUDE just weeks after announcing her catwalk retirement.

The 34-year-old Brazilian is turning her back on the runway after 20 years at the top of the fashion biz.

And Gisele, the world's highest-paid pin-up, will be sorely missed judging by this front cover from Vogue Brazil magazine.

Rooney hooker blasts sex tape Ash

FORMER hooker Helen Wood has blasted reality TV star Ashley Cain after he posted a sex video online without his partner's consent.

The Big Brother star, who famously had a THREESOME with Wayne Rooney, also reckons that Ashley has a "tiny cock".

Ashley, who has appeared on MTV's Ex On The Beach, uploaded an explicit video involving barmaid Rachel Rofis last week.

Rachel, 22, later claimed she had NOT consented to be filmed – but Ashley responded on Twitter, saying: "She knew about it... and she fking loved it!"

And now Helen has branded 24-year-old Ashley a "cocky wanker" ...with an embarrassingly small willy!

She said: "Ashley has made headlines with his Snapchat antics, making DIY movies while pummelling his latest conquest."

"Stud? Ha! Posing cocky wanker springs to mind. Most girls with self-respect would watch it and think, 'You're a tosser'."

"And if a guy is too busy filming sex, he's probably not concentrating where he should be."

"Not to mention they probably have a mini penis!"

Queen Helen up for a gong

ACTRESS Dame Helen Mirren has been nominated for a Tony award for her performance as the Queen in The Audience.

The 69-year-old star, who won an Oscar playing the monarch previously in 2006 flick The Queen, is nominated for the best actress in a play award along with fellow Brit stars Carey Mulligan and Ruth Wilson.

Wolf Hall star Ben Miles is nominated for his role as Thomas Cromwell in the play based on Hilary Mantel's best-selling novels.

He is shortlisted alongside stars including Elephant Man star Bradley Cooper.

TOYING WITH AUDIENCE:
Comic Russ

WONKY-EYED TV comic Russell Howard says he LOVES getting DILDOS thrown at his head!

The telly funnyman revealed the sex toy flinging incident came when he first stared out as a stand-up comedian.

But he says he was happy to be smacked by a used fanny prober because of the cheque he picked up afterwards.

The 35-year-old revealed: "My most embarrassing moment was doing stand-up at a Christmas gig in Romford some years ago."

"The women in the audience threw a sex toy at me – a vibrator."

Desperate

"It hit me in the face, then it was just on the floor."

"And all I could think to say was, 'Are you ready for your next act?'"

"To be honest, I was so desperate for the money I'd have let them throw anything at me!"

Meanwhile Russ is also happy for people to take the piss out of his peepers.

He added: "I'm aware I have wonky eyes. So what?"

SHE'S BRITAIN'S ONLY TOPLESS COLUMNIST

● I SEE child killer Ian Brady has pledged his support for UKIP in the upcoming general election. Evil Brady, who tortured and killed five children with his girlfriend Myra Hindley, claimed that Nigel Farage would "wipe out the Lib-Dems". He also hoped that UKIP would "decimate the Labour and Tory vote", and that the SNP would achieve the same in Scotland. It's not exactly the celebrity endorsement they were after, is it? Personally, I don't think it will put folk off voting UKIP. But I do think the timing is very suspicious... It wouldn't surprise me if another party was involved in "leaking" Brady's private letters. Still, it will all be yesterday's news after the election.

I AM so proud of Bruce Jenner for talking about his gender re-assignment last week. The Keeping Up With The Kardashians star has revealed he's living as a woman after months of speculation. Olympic gold medalist Bruce, who recently split from his wife of 24 years, Kris Jenner, told journalist Diane Sawyer: "For all intents and purposes, I'm a woman." It was simply amazing to watch his interview. It took so much courage. I think we all need to live and let live. It takes real guts to be yourself in today's society. Unfortunately, some people have suggested that it's all a publicity stunt to raise his profile - but I think that's a load of bollocks! Seriously, what sort of man would say this stuff about himself unless he REALLY wanted to be a woman? Apparently he admitted to his first wife that he struggled with his gender identity, and his own KIDS even caught him crossdressing at home. It's pretty obvious that Bruce has been living a double life for many years.

Fortunately, he's got plenty of support from friends and family, especially his daughter Kylie. But I couldn't help notice that some family members aren't saying much... Kim Kardashian and Kendall Jenner have kept pretty quiet about the whole affair, which is quite telling. Maybe they don't want to upset their fans? Or maybe their image-conscious PR people are pulling the strings? It's anybody's guess. Regardless, I have respect for Bruce - he's an incredibly brave person.

Gem of a Big Brother is on the cards!

THIS year's Celeb Big Brother looks like being a cracker if the rumours flying round are true.

The Only Way Is Essex star Gemma Collins is said to have signed up to appear on the C5 show. If that's true let's hope she lasts longer than she did on I'm A Celebrity... Get Me Out Of Here! She famously quit after just THREE days in the jungle and then promised to 'give up television for good'.

Excited

Glad to see that's going well, eh, Gemma? I'm only joking, of course! I'm excited to see Gemma in the CBB house. Yes, she's a diva, but she's also really great entertainment. Gemma has a big and bubbly personality - she'll definitely cause a few arguments on the reality show. But it gets better, folks... because the producers are also said to have signed up a hardcore PORN STAR! Farrah Abraham, from MTV's reality show Teen Mom, confirmed on Twitter that she was going in the house. She's most famous for her 2013 sex tape, which was released by Vivid Entertainment, the world's biggest porn company. She later made a sequel called Backdoor and More, in which she has rough anal sex! I think she would be AMAZING on the programme. Hopefully, she'll even have sex on camera again! It's actually got me thinking about my own porn career. I did a couple of X-rated films - and even got frisky with some horny Midweek Sport girls! I've always wanted to go on Celebrity Big Brother, but assumed they wouldn't touch me because of my adult stuff.

Bothered

But it looks like they aren't too bothered after all! Fingers crossed they'll give me a call someday. I tell you what - I'd be bloody entertaining, that's for sure!

● IT'S fight night on Saturday - and I'm staying up late to watch it. Floyd Mayweather vs Manny Pacquiao is simply THE BIGGEST boxing match in history.

I really want Pacquiao to win. He's an incredible athlete and also seems like an honest bloke. Mayweather, on the other hand, seems like a bit of a prat! He's so fking arrogant it's unbelievable. But the interviews and weigh-ins have been so "Hollywood" that it doesn't really feel like a proper boxing match. Still, it's a good excuse for a party. I'll be having a few mates round - and LOTS of takeaway food. Let's go Pacquiao!

● JOEY Essex - of all people - hits the campaign trail next week.

The TOWIE star has interviewed most of the political leaders for a new documentary called Educating Joey Essex: General Election What You Saying?

The trailer is absolutely hilarious - he can't pronounce "Conservatives" and really is clueless! But if it gets young people voting then I'm for it.

When I was younger I could never be bothered to vote, which I regret now. To be honest, I didn't understand the whole process, or why voting was important.

If Joey encourages the country to get voting then he's done a better job than most politicians!

But let's hope he doesn't become an MP himself. That would be a bloody nightmare.

Corrie Jack: My murder nightmares

CORONATION Street villain Jack P. Shepherd has lifted the lid on his secret HOMICIDAL dreams.

The actor plays Corrie bad boy David Platt in the ITV soap – a character who has TWICE been accused of attempted murder on the soap.

And the actor, 27, says he's been having evil nightmares in real-life, too.

He admitted: "I keep having dreams that me and my partner Lauren Shippey had to go to Russia to kill someone. "I don't know who, I don't know why, but they had to die."

In 2013 David's actions saw Nick Tilsley, played by actor Ben Price, suffering horrific head injuries in a car wreck.

And in 2010 David RAN OVER love rival Graeme Proctor (Craig Gazey) in gruesome scenes on the blood-stained cobbles.

Fashion babe Dawn sleeps nude shock!

BUSTY telly babe Dawn O'Porter has revealed her bedroom secrets – she sleeps in the NUDE!

The 36-year-old star of C4 vintage clothing show This Old Thing, said: "I sleep in the nude. I get hot and bothered if I wear anything in bed."

And the brunette star, who is married to actor Chris O'Dowd, says the last thing she does before hitting the hay is check her Twitter feed.

She added: "My bedroom routine involves washing my face, cleaning my teeth, getting in to bed...and checking Twitter."

Although she does also watch the boob-filled TV show Californication in bed, too.

Dawn added: "My bedtime show is Californication."

"It's set in LA and stars a sexy David Duchovny."

LAUGHED AT: Chloe says she felt victimised by audience response to her X Factor stint (above)

X FACTOR CHLOE: I'VE MADE £1M FROM SEX!

X FACTOR reject Chloe Mafia has revealed she has made a MILLION pounds from sexy online strip shows since Simon Cowell kicked her off the talent show.

The 24-year-old charges men £5-a-minute to see her strip and talk dirty online.

And she was so successful, she's turned it in to a lucrative business employing more than 50 girls, all doing the same.

And she now divides her time between her house in Leeds and a six-bedroom mansion in California.

Bizarre

It's a long way from when she became the nation's laughing stock following her appearance on the ITV talent show.

Her performance of Shakira's Underneath Your Clothes in 2010 got her through to the boot camp but her orange skin and bizarre make-up were laughed at by viewers.

And she was kicked off over claims she had used cocaine.

By COLIN HURST
news@sundaysport.co.uk

Chloe said: "I went on The X Factor because I wanted to make something of myself.

"I thought it would be a bit of fun. But I was made to look a bit of a clown. I felt victimised.

After the low point she then decided to look for a new career, adding: "I came across a webcam site and noticed the girls were charging a lot of money, and I decided to give it a go.

"I started chatting to guys who recognised me TV – I would strip and talk dirty.

"I charged £5-a-minute and the money rolled in, on one day I made £3,000.

"I built up the business, employing more girls to work on my webpage and taking a cut of their profits.

"Within weeks I'd made thousands. I now have 50 staff and have made more than £1 million.

"Now my life is all about mingling with celebs, designer shopping and driving my Range Rover."

Sam scraps Oz tour to 'rest voice'

CHART-TOPPER Sam Smith has cancelled his Australian tour after doctors discovered a haemorrhage on his vocal cords.

The multi Grammy award-winning star, 22, said he had been "vocally exhausted".

Smith performed in Sydney's Hordern Pavilion last night and was due to take to the stage in Melbourne, Adelaide and Perth.

And his In The Lonely Hour tour was set to continue in Japan, the US and Europe.

Smith wrote on his Instagram page: "I am deeply saddened to tell my Australian fans, I have to cancel my Australian tour."

"I have been vocally exhausted for a while now."

"However last night in Sydney I had a small haemorrhage on my vocal cords."

"The doctors have told me I need to fully rest until my vocal cords have healed, otherwise this could become a huge, long-term issue."

The Stay With Me singer apologised to fans who have bought tickets and said new dates would be announced, before signing off with, "This kills me".

HAYLEY TO QUIT CORRIE WITH A BANG!

By SHERNA NOAH news@sundaysport.co.uk

CORONATION Street actress Hayley Tamaddon – Weatherfield's Andrea Beckett – is LEAVING the soap.

She will make her exit in a "dramatic plot" which will feature in the Street's live episode, after two years on the show.

Tamaddon's last scenes will air in September, as part of ITV's 60th anniversary celebrations, and soap bosses said the door will be left open for a possible return.

The former Emmerdale actress, 38, joined the show in late 2013 as a night school friend of Steve McDonald.

The actress said she had "made some incredible friends" on the Street, which she described as "one big family".

She added: "I came into Corrie for three months and have stayed for two years! I will be so sad to leave – I have had the best two years of my life here."

Platform

"I am excited about my exit storyline and the fact that it is part of the live episode."

"Corrie has given me a great platform to hopefully go on to work on other dramas."

"But I'd never rule out a return to Weatherfield, as I love it so much."

"I am looking forward to what the future holds but in the meantime there is still plenty more to be done here."

EXIT: Star Hayley is leaving

MIDWEEK Sport NUMBER 1 FOR TV BOOBS

Gently does it, George!

EMILY WOOLF

DENISE WELCH

Vic Reeves babe: My boobs keep growing!

TELLY babe Nancy Sorrell has revealed her boobs keep on getting BIGGER. The 'I'm A Celebrity... Get Me Out of Here!' babe says as she's got older her body has changed for the better. And the main reason is her huge knockers. The 40-year-old, who is married to comedian Vic Reeves, said: "As my body has got older my boobs have got bigger!" "I put on a bikini the other day and thought, 'Oh my God! My boobs!'" "But I'm, quite happy with that." Her large breasts aren't the favourite part of her body though. She added: "The favourite part of my body is probably my legs."

By WENDY THOMAS
news@sundaysport.co.uk

BY George, what a lovely pair!

Crime drama Inspector George Gently, starring Martin Shaw, returns for a seventh series tonight.

The first episode, Gently With the Women, sees George and sidekick John Bacchus investigate a BROTHEL after a dead body is discovered.

And we can exclusively reveal that not one, but TWO of its new stars have gone fully TOPLESS!

Newcastle actress Emily Woolf, 48, plays a hooker called Tina Hall – but fans will remember her NUDE role in 1999's kinky sex flick Passions.

That movie explores the S&M confessions of Australian composer Percy Grainger, played by Richard Roxburgh.

And in one unforgettable scene, Emily's character is tied to a bed frame and given a jolly good SPANKING!

Loose Women star Denise Welch, 56, also plays Susan, a loud-mouthed brothel madam who assists with the investigation.

And she famously whipped 'em out on Celebrity Big Brother back in January 2012.

Denise, from Tynemouth, stripped down to her KNICKERS in a jacuzzi with coke-sniffing X Factor reject Frankie Cocozza, 22.

She said: "It wasn't my finest hour."

JESSICA PARE

Pare bare!

YOU'D be MAD to miss Jessica's incredible PARE!

The final series of US drama Mad Men continues to-morrow night at 10pm on Sky Atlantic HD.

The programme follows the scandalous lives of a New York advertising agency and its mysterious boss Don Draper.

And the latest episode features Midweek Sport favourite Jessica Pare as Draper's long-suffering ex-wife Megan Calvet.

The Canadian actress, 34, previously went NAKED in comedy flick Hot Tub Time Machine back in 2010.

She flashes her whoppin' boobs during a slippery sex session in... you guessed it, a hot tub!

Good Lucker!

ZOE LUCKER

EASTENDERS star Zoe Lucker reckons her latest telly role is "hardcore" and "filthy".

But it's NOT a grumble flick... Zoe is actually doing hard labour in a 19th-century workplace.

The 44-year-old is taking part in documentary series 24 Hours In The Past, which is available to watch right now on BBC iPlayer. The programme follows six celebrities as they step back in time to earn a living in the dumps, farms and factories of Victorian-era Britain.

Other recruits include former MP Ann Widdecombe, Outnumbered's Tyger Drew-Honey and presenter Milquitta Oliver.

24 Hours In The Past airs Tuesday nights at 9pm on BBC1.

Big Yin dumps his trike for the train

COMIC Billy Connolly is set to swap his famous Harley Davidson motor trike for the TRAIN in a new TV travel series.

The Big Yin will travel across America by railroad for a new documentary series.

It will see the 72-year-old, who is battling Parkinson's Disease, travelling on US national rail operator Amtrak while stopping off in US towns and cities.

And the show, called Tracks Across America, will see Billy visit Glasgow – not his home city but its namesake in Montana.

The travelogue will be filmed later this summer and is expected to be shown as a four-part series on ITV next year.

He was diagnosed with Parkinson's disease in 2013 AND underwent successful surgery for prostate cancer but went on to complete sell-out stand-up tours of Scotland and Australia last year.

The veteran entertainer said: "I'm starting to have problems remembering things – but who doesn't when they get to my age?"

CURED...NO BULL!

A MUM-OF-FOUR has been cured of her addiction to energy drink RED BULL after using hypnosis to quit her habit of downing 24 cans a DAY.

Emily's a star in her body painted bra!

BUSTY model Emily Ratajkowski strips completely NAKED for a sizzling beach photoshoot.

The 23-year-old British-born beauty wore nothing but BODY PAINT for her Sports Illustrated Swimsuit issue cover. Emily, from Westminster, south west London, shared this behind-the-scenes snap with her 400,000 followers.

She wrote: "#bts from the 2014 @ SI Swimsuit issue! Body painted up!" Emily, who is currently living in Los Angeles, is most famous for her TOPLESS role in Robin Thicke's Blurred Lines video.

She has since filmed a raunchy SEX scene for Hollywood flick Gone Girl and even flashed her CLUNGE for Treats magazine.

A showbiz source said: "Emily is the hottest model in the world right now, hands down."

Ashes into dildo for a quick stiff-ie

DESIGNERS have come up with a gadget that lets women bonk their DEAD huddies!

Dutch boffin Mark Sturkenboom has made a "memory box" which can be filled with items that remind a lady of their late partner.

And in it there's a glass VIBRATOR containing a gold urn built for holding the ashes of a deceased lover.

Dr Sturkenboom said: "21 Grams is a memory box that allows a widow to go back to the intimate memories of a lost beloved one. "By bringing different nostalgic moments together like the scent of his perfume, 'their' music, reviving the moment he gave her first ring, it opens a window to go back to moments of intimacy."

PINDER... the

SUCH FOND MAMMARIES:
Lucy Pinder in one of her first topless shoots

By TOM RHODES
news@sundaysport.co.uk

GLAMOUR legend Lucy Pinder looks stunning in one of her first EVER shoots!

It's been over a decade since the Winchester-born beauty first appeared in the Sport.

And this recently-unearthed set of photos demonstrates exactly why she's one of our all-time favourites!

Lucy, 31, said: "I had been modelling for almost five years before I posed fully topless."

"At the start, I was still thinking about going to university and I didn't like the idea of other students being familiar with my nipples, so I didn't show them!"

"But eventually it got more and more difficult to keep them covered up at shoots."

"I was paranoid that one of them would accidentally pop out!"

"Finally, I decided enough was enough and it was time to just whip 'em out."

"I'm happy to say the response was more than favourable!"

MIDWEEK Sport SEX FORUM

Teona Thompson
Age 20, 30C-24-34 from Sheffield

Less sex please ...we're internet addicts!

BRITS are having LESS sex than ever — because they're addicted to the INTERNET!

There has been a "steady decline" in the frequency of sex in long-term relationships since the birth of the internet in the mid-90s.

And according to a new study, most couples only have it off THREE times a month.

Similar research from 2000 found that Brits were shagging four times a month, while figures from 1990 suggest FIVE times.

And bonking boffin Professor David Spiegelhalter, from posh Cambridge University, reckons it's because couples are too busy... browsing the web!

His latest book, Sex By

By JOSEPH SCRIMSHIRE
joseph@sundaysport.co.uk

Numbers, explores the link between Brit couples' lacklustre sex lives and the rise of the internet.

Prof Spiegelhalter said: "We used to have a very big separation between our public lives and our private lives — now they are so mixed up and integrated."

Frustrating

"People are checking their emails all the time, you do not have the same sort of quiet empty time that there used to be."

Lara Wade, from online sex shop Tempt Me Tease Me, added: "There have been suggestions that the birth of the internet is the cause of British people having less sex.

"Others have pointed the finger at bad working habits. "It could be argued that people are working so much that by the time they get home, they're too tired to even think about enjoying quality time in the bedroom with their partners."

And glamour girl Teona Thompson, 20, reckons it's about time we put down our laptops — and started BONK-ING!

The 30C Sheffield beauty, said: "It's so frustrating when you're feeling horny and your partner is stuck on their phone."

"Seriously, guys. Would you rather play Candy Crush or have some kinky fun with me? Get your act together!"

MY SEX FANTASY WITH ELLA McPARLAND

SELF-CONFESSED exhibitionist Ella McParland has blown the lid off her PUBLIC SEX fantasy!
The 22-year-old beauty says she enjoys kinky outdoor romps... because she loves the thrill of being CAUGHT.
And Ella, from Liverpool, even admits to going DOGGING in the local car park!
In an EXCLUSIVE interview with Midweek Sport, the red-hot glamour

By TOM RHODES
news@sundaysport.co.uk
model said: "I did have sex in a car once."
"We were parked in a car park and it was brilliant – especially as someone nearly walked past."
"To be honest, I think it's better if you can get caught!"
"I've always wanted to join the Mile High Club, too. I've been talking about it for years and I've decided I'm definitely going to go for it the next chance I get.

A bit of filthy talk always gets us both in the mood!

"I just think getting frisky on a plane is really exciting. And again, even if I get caught... I don't really care!"

But there's more to Ella's sexual appetite than risky romps - she also likes FILTHY sex talk!

She added: "I like to impress my fella with expensive bra and knickers, or maybe a short silky nightie. And if he's lucky, I'll even wear my sexy high heels.

"I like whispering in a guy's ear with a bit of dirty talk. That's pretty much guaranteed to get us BOTH really horny!"

"Then I can get on top and take charge - I definitely like to be in control in the bedroom."

Ella, a model and part-time estate agent, has just returned from Mexico, where she was competing in the finals of Miss Swimsuit USA.

Big-boobed MILF's booty call at work

Dear Krystal,

I SELL mobile phones in a local shop in the town where I live.

I'm a 23-year-old single fella and don't have any problems pulling the ladies.

One afternoon, when I was on my own in the phone shop I was approached by a woman in her 40s who had a problem with her mobile.

She was a tasty blonde with big tits and a nice arse.

Her phone needed some work so she waited while I fixed it.

I could tell she fancied me by the look on her face.

I went to the storeroom to get a replacement part for her phone.

Then she followed me into the little workshop at the back of the shop and asked if I would use my tools on her!

So I said, "Why not?" and as soon as I said that she took off her top to reveal her fantastic knockers.

Then she pulled down my pants to reveal my six-inch standing to attention.

She wrapped her boobs around my cock and then began sucking on my throbbing beilend as well as talking really dirty to me.

Muck

She licked my balls and shaft and just as I was about to chuck my muck, she stopped and begged me to take her doggy-style.

After a minute of pumping I unleashed the lot.

Then, as if nothing had happened, she got up and picked up her phone and walked out of the shop.

I'd love to see her again but

I'm not allowed to access client's addresses or private details.

What should I do? SF, Lancs

Krystal says...

I WOULDN'T bother. If you can only last a minute I don't think she will be interested!

Dear Krystal,

I'm a curvy, 21-year-old blonde, and my male boss is 41.

He said I'd get a massive pay rise if I let him shag me.

Is this a fair deal? LL, Essex

Krystal says...

YES - but get his offer in writing first, before you bonk him.

Letter of the day

Dear Krystal,

I'M a bouncer at a lapdance bar and I've managed to nail a few of the performers!

I've recently been doing a Polish bird. She's blonde and has got a perfect body with lovely 32D tits and she's filthy in bed.

The first time I shagged her was in the back of my car.

It was after I gave her lift home when she said she couldn't invite me in because her boyfriend was there.

So I drove to a local park and had her on the back seat from behind.

She sucked me off for ages before she bent over to spread her cheeks for me.

Just as I was about to come she told me take her up the arse!

The problem is that she has now finished with her fella and wants me to leave my wife and two kids for her.

What do you reckon? SP, Birmingham

Krystal says...

IT sounds like a fling to me - stay with your wife and kids.

Dear Krystal,

MY wife, a tasty brunette in her late 30s, likes to shag builders.

She gets them to quote for jobs and then offers sex.

So far, we've had a conservatory and an extension done for very reasonable prices.

She was upfront about her desires so I don't feel she's cheated on me.

Indeed, I often ask her to secretly film the romps on her mobile phone so I can watch them, too.

A couple of weeks ago I watched as a young fella in his 20s boned her.

She sucked him off and then he nailed her from behind.

The problem is that she keeps going on about him.

Now I fear she's about to leave me for this stud.

What should I do? PS, Leeds

Krystal says...

ASK her if she is, or become a builder yourself!

Dear Krystal,

I AM the managing director of a successful engineering company and a fellow executive invited me around to their house recently for dinner in the evening.

I honestly thought I was in for a boring night talking about business - which I get enough of in the office, to be honest.

But when I arrived there, armed with an expensive bottle of wine, I was greeted by his very attractive wife.

And to my utter astonishment, she undid her blouse and slipped off her skirt.

I pushed her down on to her knees and she started to tongue the tip of my dick and then took me to the back of her throat.

I ripped off her black thong and started f*cking her doggy-style as she screamed with pleasure.

But it transpires the exec secretly filmed me bonking his wife and wants me to give him half my business.

What can I do about this? FR, East Midlands

Krystal says...

HE won't show anyone that vid because if the truth comes out he and his wife will both look bad.

It's a family affair

Dear Krystal,

I AM a 32-year-old bisexual and I've been sleeping with my sister-in-law.

We were at a party and both a bit tipsy when I confessed to her that I liked to make love to women as well as men.

To my surprise she admitted that she had the same leanings - so we staggered out to the garage for a bit of a snog.

Once inside we locked lips for a while as we felt each other's breasts. Then I slipped my hand up her skirt and down her panties and eased my fingers into her pussy and massaged her clit.

She shocked me by taking a small vibrator out of her handbag. I was in heaven as she went to work and soon I climaxed.

We've been sneaking round to one another's houses since and we want to set up home together. But it's not easy for me as she's my husband's sister.

What can I do? WK, North Yorks

Krystal says...

LIKE a strap-on, it's a hard one. I'd keep it secret.

HANNAH CLAYDON

MIDWEEK Sport reader Kevin Little would love to get his hands on Hannah Claydon's impressive pair.

The Preston book-maker, 42, said: "Is there anyone who's as beautiful as Hannah? I seriously doubt it."

"I'm not usually into blondes, but there's something different about her that drives me wild."

"And she's definitely got best BOOBS in the business!"

Haven't seen your favourite model for a while? Drop us a note and we'll put her in the paper! Email request@sundaysport.co.uk

EMILY LEIGH

NEWCASTLE security guard Barry Dickson loves massaging his pork truncheon over busty pin-up Jodie Love.

Barry, 44, said: "I've always preferred Sport girls with natural boobs, so Jodie was one of my favourites."

"She's got an excellent figure and I love her saucy interviews."

"Would you mind publishing her photos again – it feels like forever!" Here's one for you, Barry!

JODIE LOVE

SULTRY brunette Emily Leigh is the choice of retired builder Ricky Talbot, 67.

The Glasgow fella asked for a photo of Basildon beauty Emily, 21, showing off her cracking figure.

He wrote: "I am Emily's biggest fan – but she hasn't been in the paper for ages."

"She's done some great hardcore vids, but I much prefer her lingerie photos."

They're more tasteful. "So, could you print a topless snap for me? I'd really appreciate it!"

Ricky, you asked – and we responded. Here's a picture of Emily in all her TOPESS glory!

Camilla Roberts says...

I'M definitely NOT what you would call a morning person – just ask any of my old boyfriends. Sorry, but bad breath and heavy eyes aren't exactly my cup of tea! I almost ALWAYS prefer sex in the evening as it's a great way to relax after a hard day's work. And usually I'm looking a lot better, which makes me feel more confident in myself.

GIRLS LIKE NIG BLOKES PREFER

Caroline Short says...

I CAN'T really relate to this survey... because I want sex ALL the time! In a perfect world I would like to get laid in the morning AND evening. Unfortunately, it doesn't usually work like that – my boyfriend generally struggles to keep up with me! I often have to masturbate at work to keep myself satisfied, which feels really naughty.

HT-TIME NOOKIE - BREAKFAST BAPS!

By JOSEPH SCRIMSHIRE
joseph@sundaysport.co.uk

AS the old saying goes, "Men are from Mars, women are from Venus".

And according to a shock poll, it's not just our personalities that make us so different.

Because guys and gals apparently have very different priorities when it comes to... SEX!

A new survey shows that women feel most HORNY late at night, while more men want sex early in the morning.

And the majority of couples say they feel horny at different times of the day.

Online sex shop Lovehoney asked 2,300 Brits about their "mismatched" sex lives.

And apparently, women are DESPERATE for sex just before they go to sleep at 11.21pm, while "sex o'clock" for men is about eight-and-a-half hours later, just after they wake up at 7.45am.

Passion

Lovehoney co-owner Richard Longhurst said: "Our latest survey goes to prove that there are big differences in "sex o'clock" between couples.

"Men are ready for a nice bit of nookie just before breakfast, whereas women most want passion last thing at night.

"What is encouraging is that most people tend to find sexual happiness in the end with a partner who has similar needs.

"But we also found that most of us do have a few difficult relationships with lovers whose sex drives are different from our own before we settle down."

So, in true scientific fashion, we asked Midweek Sport stunnas Camilla Roberts, Caroline Short and Belinda Brennan what they thought about the results...

Belinda Brennan says...

AH, yes. I've had plenty of experience with horny boys having their "morning wood". I think it's hilarious. Why is it that the first thing blokes think of in the morning is getting their end away?
I understand if you've had a dirty dream or something, but it seems to happen to every guy I've ever slept with!
Of course, I'm definitely not one to complain about it as I do enjoy a nice bit of morning sex once in a while.
It can really brighten up your day!

Foxes to bag point

PASSION:
Nigel
Pearson

CHELSEA need a wing mirror to see their rivals over their ever-distancing shoulders.

But will they take their foot off the pedal tonight?

After all, as any woman will tell you, there is nothing so disappointing as premature congratulation.

It's a danger of course against a Foxes outfit for whom the calendar seems to have got somewhat twisted.

Season starts with an A alright, fellas, but it's August, not April. Those pesky East Midland rodents have hit a rich vein of form when it has come to 'hey, lads, hey' and their fighting spirit can only be admired.

Leicester boss Nigel Pearson said his side must not be complacent after four victories lifted them out of the Premier League bottom three for the first time since November.

Their latest win, 1-0 at bottom side Burnley, at the weekend, saw the Foxes swap places with Sunderland, who drew 1-1 at Stoke.

"To win four on the trot is a good achievement," Pearson said. "But I am aware people may start feeling the emphasis of our pressure has changed and that is nonsense."

LEICESTER v CHELSEA TOP TIPPING

Pearson, who was tipped to be sacked in February after a run of four successive defeats, added: "It's always a difficult league to be successful in and we've got a lot of hard work to do."

He thinks young Nige speaks with forked tongue. I think they have cracked it by dint of momentum.

But Pearson insisted: "If people think the hard work's done, they're in for a shock."

Leicester are a point above third-bottom Sunderland and their next three games—against leaders Chelsea, Newcastle and Southampton—are all at home. He went on: "With five games to go it is important to keep our fate in our hands, so we have a lot of difficult games to play."

"At this stage of the season it is about getting the right results."

So what odds a shock?

Well, the resurgent Foxes are 9/2 to win a home game enormous in a football match.

Don't care who you are playing.

The draw is 3/1 and the visitors are a fraction above 8/13.

I find it harder to take odds-on about a travelling side in a footy match than I do to summon the insanity to talk to my ex-missus.

This is not going to be the most dogmatic advised proffered by this esteemed organ but have a tiny bet on the draw at 3/1. Small stakes only, mind you, but we might as well have an interest in the telly game because on an otherwise boring Wednesday night, as the wonderful Sex Pistols once sang in Frigging In The Rigging, "there is fk all else to do."

With Chelsea so abundantly clear at the top and so hard to crack at the back, with John Terry in peerless form, 0-0 gets the vote as correct score.

Stuff at stake at either end so it might, just might, get a little cagey.

Remember your homework. Take 'No Goalscorer' if there is an own goal it doesn't count and for whatever bizarre reason you always get a fraction better price than taking 0-0 as the final finish.

Ladbrokes have flown a real kite with an offer of 12/1 no goalscorer, with their nearest rivals 9/1 at best. Eh? No, me neither.

BETS: Leicester v Chelsea draw (3/1, general); No goalscorer (12/1, Ladbrokes)

AT LAST:
Johnson
can win it

figure why that lad never gets the acclaim he deserves are all prominent. But even young Moore admitted this week: "Dickie deserves it. None of us will cry if he ends top of the pile next season."

The more obtuse among us feel the 5/1 with Coral that AP misses it too much and gets back in the saddle in the next 12 months is worth a small flutter.

But there is no escaping the 5/4 generally available about Johnson for next gaffer. OK, it may be skinnier than Victoria Beckham before her Peppercorn drip kicks in. But it is what is going to happen, surely?

BETS: AP to ride again (5/1); Dickie Johnson for next year's title (5/4)

JOHNSON CAN GRAB DESERVED JOCKEYS' TITLE

WELL he has gone. AP McCoy rides, sorry walks or drives, off into the distance.

And next season the jump racing fraternity will have its first new champion in 20 years. Yep, read that again, two whole decades.

There is no racing fan alive who wouldn't wish it to fall to Richard Johnson. The perennial second who, were it not for the bad luck to be born in the same era as the Real McCoy, would be the most successful jockey this wonderful little isle has ever seen.

The betting is open already on the next campaign and our advice is get your money down early. Jamie Moore, Sam Twiston-Davies, the weefully under-rated Noel Fehilly... for the life of me I cannot Mick's simply the best...

THE headline in Weekend Sport was 'Hoffman Is Too Swift' — I advised you to jump all over the 2/1 on offer about Pat Rosney's greyhound for Scottish Derby glory — and he duly romped to victory by over 3L.

In Sunday Sport I put up four tips, we had one non-runner but the other three bolted in which means myself and those that followed me have only just stopped partying — did you get on?

BULLET TO HIT THE TARGET

Live action tonight at Swindon live on Sky Sports featuring the Calne Racing Arc final worth £8,000 to the winner and a great supporting card.

It's on the supporting card I'm going 'NAPTASTIC' on with Billys Bullet in the 685m event.

I was blown away with his 480m trial of 28.48 knowing that is way short of his optimum distance is even more impressive.

I don't think any of his opposition could do that even if they were a passenger on a Kawasaki 750cc motorbike.

Whatever he opens up at in the morning my advice is bang him off the boards because barring any bad luck I'm expecting him to not only win but win by a big distance.

Forest Sara is worth sticking with in the bitches race because she is phenomenal when she gets it right.

She is at her best when she can dominate from the front and tonight I expect to see her turn in front.

I'd be very disappointed if we did not end up in the payout queue if she hit the front around the first couple of bends tonight.

When it comes to sprinting I always want Target Harris on my side.

It's a hot race but it's Sky Sports you always get that don't let that put you off if Target Harris is on his 'A' game he should prove too good tonight.

In the big one it looks competitive but Millwards Whitey really impressed me in the semi-finals and I think he's the most likely name to be on the 2015 Calne Racing Arc trophy.

KNIGHT'S RIGHT

Main contender can strike at Ascot

IT cannot happen many times in your life.

You look down the field of a six-runner field of a two-year-old, 5f Conditions Stakes and see the form figures: won; won; won; unseated rider.

What's that all about? Heather Main's ARAGON KNIGHT was the one who ducked right at the start and gave Martin Lane no chance whatsoever of staying in the place.

But the son of Kheleyf is well bred and deserves another chance especially as he is liable to go off a decent price.

That's because he faces three winners. But on closer

By GREATEST JOCKEY
JOHN FRANCOMME

examination, what did they achieve?

Mark Johnston's Buratino flattened four rivals but it was in a modest Chelmsford maiden and it's not as often as you might expect that Mr "Always Trying" horses win a brace in a row.

Gifted Master probably achieved more winning a Newmarket sprint on good to firm, while Handytalk got up in the shadow of the post to win at Windsor. Honestly, the form does not amount to a hill of beans.

But why the hell was Aragon Knight backed in from 25/1 to 11/1 for a, frankly, little-known stable, with respect.

He could be anything and is worth the risk.

For our money that is the most intriguing race even though there are two Group 3 heats on the Ascot card.

In the Sagaro Stakes at 3.30, TAC DE BOITRON is the pick.

Eight years old now and until he was five he would be running on the all-weather based on the sum of what his form amounted to. But in the last three years, something has clicked.

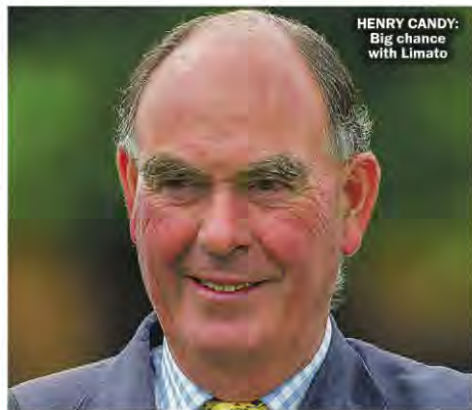

Thirty-five runs on the clock for a horse that age is not unreasonable and thanks to finding his feet late he can celebrate nine wins from the tally.

Not at the gaff-tracks either. Paris three times, at Longchamp, Chester's September meeting, and placed efforts at Goodwood, York and Ascot. He has to be the selection.

Thirty-five minutes later (4.05) we get the Pavilion Stakes and despite the lack of a recent run, Henry Candy's unbeaten LIMATO can't be opposed.

He ended last season winning the two-year-old Redcar Trophy which is always a good guideline and that should be good enough.

HENRY CANDY:
Big chance with Limato

CRICKET: ENGLAND IN THE WEST INDIES

HOT TO TROTT

Misfiring Jon keeps place despite flops

JONATHAN Trott looks set to keep his place opening England's batting despite his struggles at the top of the order.

Despite going for a duck in the second innings in Grenada — his third flop in four innings when opening — Three Lions coach Peter Moores seems to think he's the second coming of Geoffrey Boycott.

Granted, Trott scratched his way to 59 in the first innings of the match but he is hardly in the kind of form that will have Australia worried ahead of this summer's Ashes series.

But Moores had nothing but praise for his new opener: "I think he played beautifully.

"In the second innings, he got out to his third or fourth ball. It happens. It can happen to anyone.

"But what we saw in the first innings was Jonathan Trott playing like Jonathan Trott.

"I think he would admit that in Antigua he hadn't quite got himself where he wanted to be.

"I don't think his temperament changed, for me it was more of a technical thing.

"He was overbalancing in Antigua so he wasn't quite getting where he wanted to be with the ball.

"He sorted that out, and I thought the partnership between him and Cook was a really good partnership.

"So I think he'll come out of that Test match thinking: 'yeah, actually I feel in good nick. I feel like I've got myself going."

By STEVE MARSHALL

That last statement would make David Brent from The Office moors but one man who won't be laughing is rising star Adam Lyth, who looks a much better bet at the top of the order.

Moores added: "Bringing players in is quite a fine balance.

"You want them to be playing in a winning side and they've got to have earned the right to play and be given a chance.

"We've looked at quite a lot of new players already and have probably got six or seven starting to emerge.

Work

"Getting in a Test team is hard and they — those players who have yet to feature in the Test team — might not play a Test in this series.

"They've got to work really hard to get in and once you get in you've got to work hard to take your chance.

"Of course there's development to think about and there's a lot of Tests coming up.

"But often that progression is quite natural.

"Bowlers get injuries, get tired and others get chances. Chris Woakes has been injured and Ben Stokes has come in so it becomes quite natural."

Lyth was top scorer in the County Championship last year with a batting average of 68 and was named double player of the season.

He was key to Yorkshire winning the title and — at 27 — will be itching to get in the England side.

Joy of six can't get Rocket up

WORLD SNOOKER

RONNIE O'Sullivan says he'll be happy if he never wins another World Snooker title — and is struggling to get up for this year's tournament.

The Rocket has made pretty light work of getting into the final eight at the Crucible but is yet to feel the buzz most players get from playing at the iconic venue.

O'Sullivan said: "When you've won it five times and you've won everything else, then you don't really get that excited about it.

"For me I'm just happy to still be playing but nah, I don't get excited like I used to when I was going for one, two, three and four. You're just kind of hungry for it.

"I've kind of settled at five. It's not a bad innings and, if I can add to that, that's great but you kind of lose motivation in the end. It's not the same kind of motivation, it's a different kind of motivation.

"A lot calmer, more relaxed about everything.

"There's no pressure on me to win another one but it would be nice. It's a different type of pressure, I suppose.

Pain

O'Sullivan continues his quarter-final against Stewart Bingham this afternoon after waltzing past Matthew Stevens last time out.

But the Londoner felt sorry for his defeated opponent who was playing through the pain barrier and could find nothing like his best form.

It was a regulation 13-5 win with O'Sullivan barely out of first gear at any point in the contest as the Welshman suffered.

The Rocket added: "Matthew had a really bad neck and I know what it's like to play with a bad neck.

"He couldn't even get down on the shots so it was a bit difficult to watch your opponent suffering like that.

"It was hard for Matt there, so it was hard for me to get motivated.

"I know I only needed one frame to get the win (in the final session) but there was no adrenaline there.

"I just kind of had to get something and get the one frame I needed."

Despite being a little gloomy, O'Sullivan hasn't ruled out him walking away with the trophy this year.

He said: "I'm still happy to be in the tournament and, if I can find a bit of form, then I've got a chance."

NAME GAME: Root

DON'T CALL ME GEOFFREY

YOU would think any England cricketer would be delighted to have a nickname inspired by one of the greatest batsmen this country has ever produced — but not Joe Root!

After he showed great patience in clocking up 182 to help the Three Lions secure a Test win in Grenada, his pals have started calling him Geoffrey.

That monicker is inspired by fellow Yorkshireman and the self-proclaimed king of openers, Sir Geoffrey Boycott.

He was legendary for boring opposition bowlers — and his own fans — to death with his slow play during the 1970s and

BY CRAIG MILLOM

80s as he cemented himself at the top of England's order.

But the nickname came about because Root was involved in three run-outs during the match.

As well as slow play, Boycs was known for running out his batting partner — particularly if his own wicket might have been in some danger running to the other end.

Root said of last week's mammoth knock: "There was only one slight problem — everyone's calling me Geoffrey.

"Much as I admire the man

I've been named after, my fellow Yorkshireman Geoffrey Boycott, I'm not all that keen on being compared to him for my running between the wickets.

"I've got skipper Alastair Cook to thank for being called that.

"He came up with the name, and he's probably old enough to remember a few of Geoffrey's run outs anyway — and as I reminded him, he bats a bit like Boycott did as well."

And Root should be giving Jimmy Anderson a similar nickname as it was his fault the batsman didn't make it to 200.

The Lancashire fast-bowler fell victim to one of the dosiest run-outs seen in recent years and left Root high and dry just 18 runs short of the milestone he richly deserved.

He could have made his ground but was too slow to react and became the final wicket of the match.

Root said: "It does seem a bit unfair when I couldn't really be blamed for Jimmy Anderson's run-out, which was the last of the three.

"Even Jimmy has admitted he was being a bit dozy, but I can confirm that Lancashire-Yorkshire relations are fine between the two of us afterwards."

NOT MY TYPE: Things could turn ugly now Diego Costa's back

It's all turned a little bit ugly

LEICESTER City entertain Chelsea this evening at the King Power Stadium looking to edge closer to Premier League survival after their brilliant win at Turf Moor at the weekend.

The Foxes are 9/2 to gain another famous win against the Champions elect who were as functional as ever at the Emirates on Sunday.

Some argued it was an ugly point for Mourinho's side but Diego Costa wasn't playing so it couldn't have been that ugly and it is well documented that Chelsea could and probably should have had at least one penalty kick against a disappointing Arsenal who never really looked like giving Arsene Wenger that elusive first success against his nemesis.

The Blues have won their last five in a row against

CHELSEA GRINDING OUT TITLE WIN

Leicester and are now unbeaten in the Premier League since New Year's Day and have still not conceded the first goal in any game this year.

Chelsea are 7/10 at BetVictor to pick up all three points with the hosts 9/2 and the draw 29/10.

QPR (1/25) and Burnley (1/12) are all but relegated as far as we are concerned but that third spot is uncertain and BetVictor go: Sunderland 8/15, Hull 5/2, Leicester 11/2, Villa 8/1, Newcastle 12/1.

The Tigers were in action against Liverpool last night and would have been hopeful of picking up at least a point with Brendan Rodgers side largely firing blanks at present.

This is a big summer for the Reds' boss after the heroics of last season but there is no Champions' League to entice the very best players and what do you do with the increasingly injury prone Daniel Sturridge?

★ MONTALCINO, from the in-form yard of Brian Meehan, can continue the good form of the stable in the Mile Conditions' Event at Ascot.

The filly ran a fine race when runner up over C&D last September having won a decent maiden at Doncaster on her penultimate start.

Luca Cumani's string are not exactly firing on all cylinders but there is surely more to come from Mizzou this season and I think he could be a Cup horse going forward.

He makes his seasonal reappearance in the Gp 3 Sagaro Stakes and receives 11lbs from likely market leader Tac De Boistron who won the corresponding race last year but may need softer ground to be seen at his best.

Also looking forward to seeing the reappearance of the unbeaten Limato in the Pavilion Stakes; the gelding looked a sprinter to follow when annihilating his field in the Two-Year-Old-Trophy at Redcar when last seen in the autumn and he is a very exciting sprinter.

It tries my patience

DEAR Midweek Sport
I love my rugby. It's great. But why do they call the most important act of scoring "a try?"
Surely it should be "a success?"
Mind you, them Yanks are even more mental. They call their "tries" "touchdowns" and I've never seen one of the fers touch a ball down yet.
Ninety-nine times out of 100 they just run over the line and chuck the ball in the air.
And then do a daft dance. I wouldn't even watch it but there's nowt on UK Gold.
Irasmus Quarterback, Illinois.

DEAR Midweek Sport
Remember that Josef Stalin?
He only drank peppermint tea. He maintained all proper tea was theft.
I wouldn't have mentioned it but he once played in goal for Dynamo Kiev reserves.
I think. Or did I dream it?
I must stop eating cheese on toast after Newsnight.
Dynamo, Kiev.

DEAR Midweek Sport
That AP McCoy. After 4,000 winners you would think the miserable bastard would treat himself to a proper first name.
Some people.
William Wordsworth, Cockermouth (or Grasmere, depends upon who you believe).

Dear Midweek Sport
Isn't it funny how some footballers lend their name to rhyming slang but you daren't take the piss out of others.
For example, Johnny Giles and Nobby Stiles are always used when people have a dose of the old Chalfont St Giles.
But nobody calls that Tony Blair a Roger Hunt. And if ever a man deserved it ...
J Arthur Rank, Andover.

Dear Midweek Sport
Now listen. What the hell does that see Lindsey Vonn see in that Tiger Woods?
I mean, the days are long gone when he could emerge from the early morning mist and crack a majestic nine-iron from the light rough at the 14th hole to within a feather's-breadth of the cup.
Poor fer couldn't hit a cow's arse with a banjo these days.
But her? What a sort, and a proper sportswoman too. You can write all I know about alpine skiing on the back of an alpine ski. How big are they, again?
But she is a true professional, an athlete and a sporting icon.
I tell you this much, you would never see young Lindsey posing in her undercrackers just to get her tits in the paper.

Four in scrap for play-off places

CHAMPIONSHIP UPS AND DOWNS

IT'S enough to drive Einstein bonkers but the permutations of the British football season are utterly compelling.

This is how it works in the Championship:

Watford have secured promotion and Bournemouth all but sealed their place in the top flight short of the sort of mathematical miracle which last happened when Archimedes was having a hot bath.

Middlesbrough and Norwich are guaranteed at least a play-off place, while Ipswich, Derby, Brentford and Wolves will scrap for the two remaining play-off berths.

Ipswich will claim a play-off place if they beat Blackburn on Saturday or match the results of Brentford and Wolves.

Gone

Derby will secure their top-six spot if they better the results of Brentford and Wolves.

The bottom three teams will be relegated to League One.

Blackpool were the first Football League team to go down this season and are way gone.

The question of who finishes in the other relegation places is slightly complicated by 21st-placed Rotherham's three-point deduction. They have until 1 May, the day before the final fixtures of the season, to appeal.

Wigan and Millwall will already be relegated should the Millers have beaten Reading last night.

Now put those calculators away and take a deep breath.

ALL THE FOOTBALL LEAGUE UPS AND DOWNS

WE'VE DONE IT: Cherries chairman Jeff Mostyn and manager Eddie Howe

Bournemouth again

FROM SKINT TO TOP FLIGHT IN SIX YEARS

BOURNEMOUTH are the living evidence sport can be as romantic as Gone With The Wind.

By JOHN ANTHONY

The new Premier League members, barring a 19-0 defeat at Charlton this weekend, were FIVE MINUTES from liquidation seven years ago.

Six years ago the Cherries were dead in the water before chairman Jeff Mostyn wrote a £100,000 cheque to save the club. The following season they were close to going out of the Football League after starting in League Two on -17 points.

"Six years ago we were on the edge of the abyss," said Mostyn.

Mostyn has been through the highs and lows with the Cherries and said this week's achievement was a moment for everyone at the club to savour.

"We've climbed right through the leagues and into the Premier League. It's just incredible. I don't think anybody, not even the craziest optimist, would ever have thought this was possible.

"The reality is we are going to be rubbing shoulders with football's glitterati next season and we'll do ourselves proud.

"For me this is achieving the impossible. For all football fans, this is the perfect story and hopefully it gives hope for every club that you can come back from oblivion and get to the Premier League.

"I'm so proud of everybody and my total respect to the owner, the chief executive and all the staff. When I first arrived, we could not afford a first-class stamp."

There is little doubt that next season Bournemouth will be everybody's second-favourite team.

For manager Eddie Howe, the achievement will see him join an elite band of managers who have guided a club through the Football League.

The 37-year-old has only been a manager for six years but he has transformed the club, as Russian billionaire owner Maxim Demin has done his bit off the field.

And Howe paid tribute to Demin, the players and the supporters who helped save the club at several points over the past two decades.

"This club was on its knees six years ago, we had nothing," Howe said.

"A group of supporters took their money out of their pockets to keep the club alive and they are reaping the rewards. It is the club I watched as a kid, the club that gave me an opportunity in the game as a player and a manager.

"It shouldn't be them thanking me, it should be me thanking them. It is a family club and deserves its moment in the sun.

"It is never a journey we expected to go on but through hard work and investment we managed to do it. The players have been magnificent and it is an achievement they deserve."

Bournemouth will now battle Watford for the Championship title on the final day of the season with the Hornets holding a one-point advantage.

And Howe says after allowing his players a night out to celebrate on Monday, they will be doing everything they can to win the league.

"We'll try to go to Charlton and win. It would mean everything if we can do it. It's not in our hands, but we'll prepare in the right way and once we've got this celebration over we'll get out on the training pitch."

The Cherries will head into next season's campaign as underdogs but Mostyn says it won't faze Howe.

"We'll survive," Mostyn said. "The way we play football we'll enhance the Premier League and I think of any team that has been promoted in recent years, we have as much chance as any of staying up."

PRESTON AND MK IN BATTLE FOR SECOND

IN LEAGUE ONE, Bristol City secured the first of two automatic promotion places with a stunning 6-0 win at Bradford and then clinched the title with the point they needed in a 0-0 draw against Coventry.

The second spot is between Preston and MK Dons, who are each guaranteed one of the four play-off places at least along with Swindon.

Preston will be promoted if they beat Colchester or match MK Dons' result at Rochdale. Sheffield United and Chesterfield have secured the other play-off spots.

At the bottom, four teams

LEAGUES ONE AND TWO UPS AND DOWNS

will be relegated. Yeovil have filled one of those spots after a draw against Notts County condemned them to a second straight drop.

Colchester and Leyton Orient will join them if they fail to win their final games. Even if they do, they will go down if Crawley and Notts County win.

If Colchester and Orient both fail to win, a draw will keep Crawley up if Notts County lose to Gillingham.

But, if County win, Crawley will go down unless they beat Coventry, a result which would relegate the Sky Blues if Notts County and Crewe also win.

Are you keeping up, there will be a quiz later!!

In LEAGUE TWO, the top three teams will be promoted to League One, while teams finishing from fourth to seventh will contest the play-offs.

Burton were the first team to secure promotion on 18 April and Shrewsbury joined them by beating Cheltenham on 25 April.

Burton will be crowned champions if they beat Cambridge on the final day of the season, or if Shrewsbury fail to overcome Plymouth.

The other automatic place is between Southend, Bury and Wycombe, who are all assured of at least a play-off place.

Southend will be promoted if they beat Morecambe, or if Bury and Wycombe both fail to win.

Stevenage have secured a play-off place and Plymouth will definitely join them if they get a point against Shrewsbury, although the Pilgrims' goal difference means they are all but certain of a top-seven finish anyway.

The bottom two teams — Cheltenham and Tranmere Rovers — have already been relegated to the Conference Premier (or the National League as it will be called next season).

In CONFERENCE PREMIER, Barnet are the champions and will be promoted to League Two.

The teams finishing from second to fifth — Bristol Rovers, Grimsby, Eastleigh and Forest Green — will contest the play-offs for the second promotion place.

Ooh, that was a bit more simple.

NO SALE: Ibrahimovic

Zlat's off the menu says PSG billionaire

PARIS St Germain owner Nasser Al-Khelaifi has posted a "hands off" warning over his manager and star players — all on the wish-list of a few Premier League clubs.

Manager Laurent Blanc and crackers Zlatan Ibrahimovic, Edinson Cavani and Javier Pastore will all be staying put, says Nasser.

Arsenal are keen on Ibrahimovic, Liverpool like Cavani while Manchester United, should Luis Van Gaal's reign go tits up, might be interested in Blanc.

PSG are in a battle with Lyon to retain their league title and are in contention to win both the French domestic cups.

But their Champions League quarter-final defeat to Barcelona once again raised question marks over personnel at the Parc des Princes.

Unfair

Al-Khelaifi has said he is not considering making wholesale changes.

Asked if Blanc would still be in charge as coach for next season, Al-Khelaifi said: "Yes, of course," adding the criticisms that had been placed on him were "unfair".

Turning to Ibrahimovic, he said that the Sweden international would see out the final year of his contract.

"The matter is not even up for debate," he added. "He will be staying for us for next season, and that is for sure."

"And that goes for Javier Pastore too."

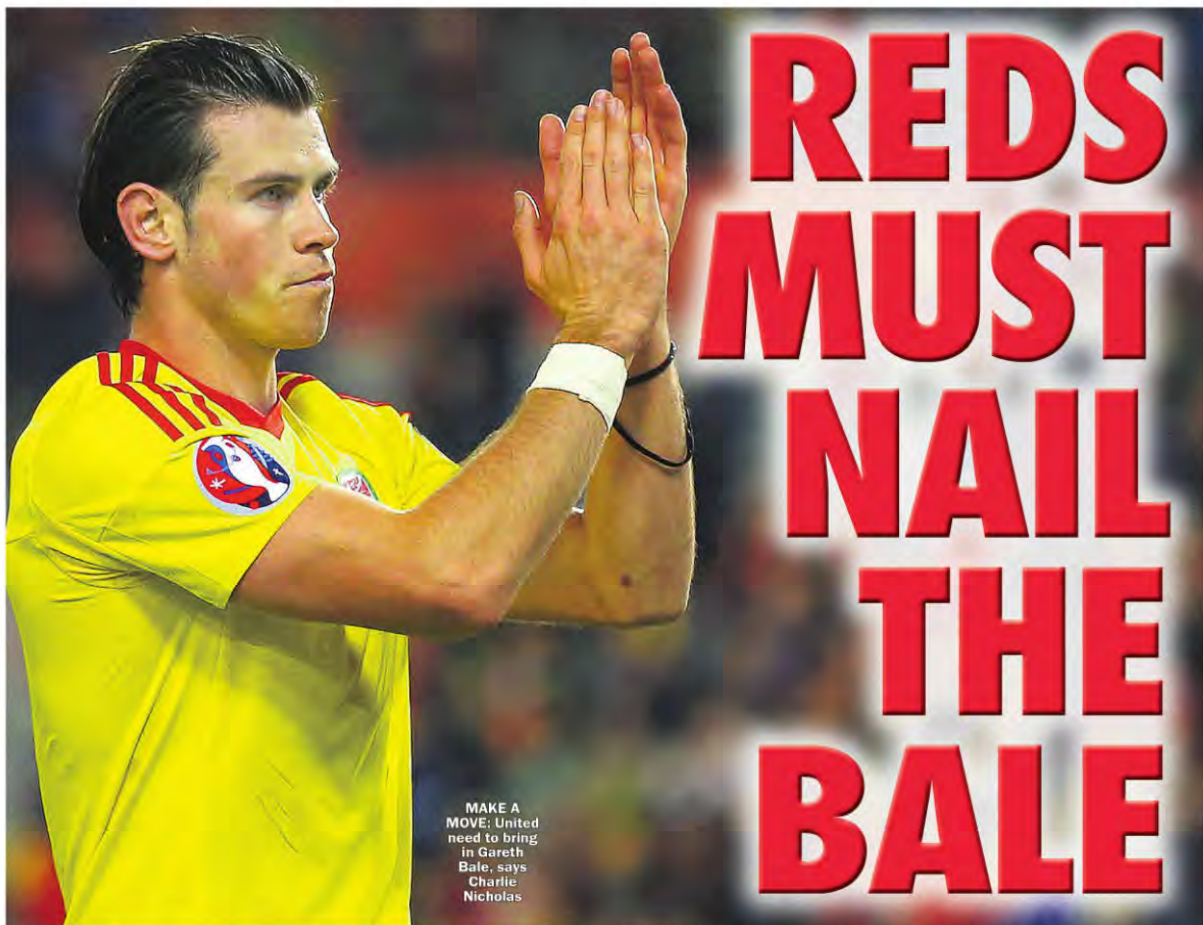

Al-Khelaifi underlined that he would not even listen to any transfer offers made for Cavani.

He did agree that there would be some team changes for next season and confirmed that there had been talks with Juventus midfielder Paul Pogba, who has also attracted attention from other "big clubs".

UNITED URGED TO SPLASH THEIR CASH

MAKE A MOVE: United need to bring in Gareth Bale, says Charlie Nicholas

REDS MUST NAIL THE BALE

And get rid of Di Maria too, says Charlie

By TREVOR CLEMENTS

GET Gareth. That's the advice from Scotland legend Charlie Nicholas to Manchester United.

Chas says Gareth Bale would transform United from Champions League wannabes to proper title contenders.

As ever, purse strings are the problem at Old Trafford. They are on the brink of splashing £21m on Borussia Dortmund midfielder Ilkay Gundogan.

The 24-year-old is barely a household name in his own house and that won't satisfy the Red masses.

The Manchester club are also competing with Liverpool for the signing of PSV Eindhoven winger Memphis Depay and it could be a case of Memphis or bust because the Dutch fellas won't sell on the cheap.

So given the US owners' recent habit of being thrifty, can they really lash out on Bale?

Nicholas says they only have one option if they want the success craved by the Old Trafford faithful.

He insisted: "If you want to make a serious statement, then you need to throw everything at getting Gareth Bale."

"He's the sort of player that can create a massive excitement and help United make an immediate impact when they return to the Champions League.

"I think Bale would be open to returning to the Premier League, even if he wouldn't say it."

"United can say to him, 'you've been successful in Spain when winning the Champions League but after your ups and downs, you can come here and be our Ronaldo, rather than playing second fiddle'."

That could be the key if the money is on the table for LVG to make huge signings this summer.

Bale and Ronaldo? Can you see them two arm-in-arm down the boozer?

Never in a million years. The Portuguese gravity-expert is clearly jealous of Bale's talent.

Committed

And it doesn't take a body-language expert to figure they do not get on.

Nicholas added: "They need to offload Di Maria, who came in and offered a lot of energy but now doesn't seem totally committed like he did at Real Madrid."

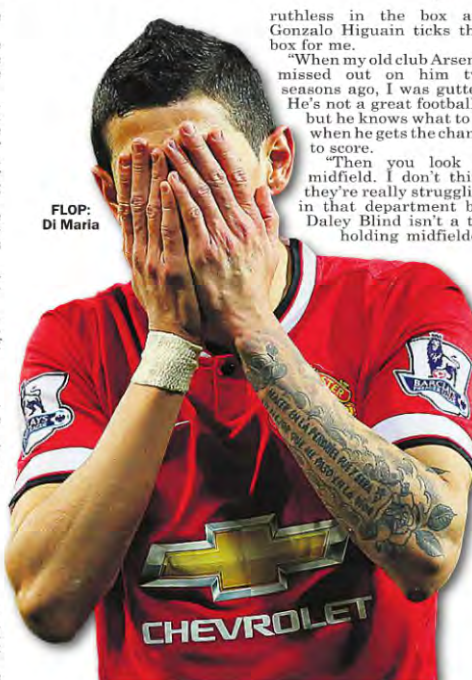

"I also feel United need another striker, somebody whose job will be just to stick the ball in the net. I don't think Falcao fits into the system so I don't see them keeping hold of him. I would keep Van Persie but I don't think he'll come back the same again."

"I like players who are ruthless in the box and Gonzalo Higuain ticks that box for me."

"When my old club Arsenal missed out on him two seasons ago, I was gutted. He's not a great footballer but he knows what to do when he gets the chance to score."

"Then you look at midfield. I don't think they're really struggling in that department but Daley Blind isn't a top holding midfielder."

FLOP: Di Maria

Michael Carrick is without doubt their best player in that crucial position when he's fit.

"Defensively there are still issues, Chris Smalling has definitely improved this season but they need another centre-back."

"Sir Alex Ferguson tended to buy partnerships."

"He went for Chris Smalling and Phil Jones as cover for Ferdinand and Vidic."

Option

"There are a few options that I like the look of."

"Mats Hummels comes into the equation, Miranda at Atletico Madrid, while Sevilla's left-back Benoit Tremoulinas could be another option that they'll look at."

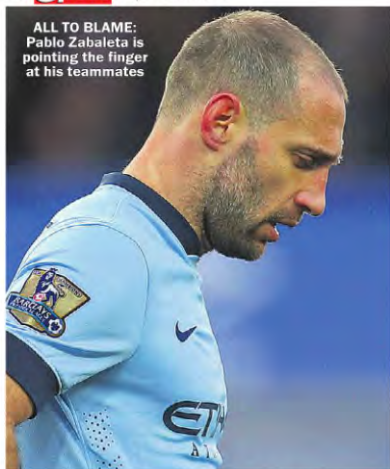

But for a team of such high standing Nicholas feels that United are short at the back, an opinion given strength by their abject 3-0 surrender to the Toffees on Sunday.

Then comes the goalie issue with David De Gea making noises about heading to Real Madrid.

He went on: "If de Gea leaves for Real Madrid, then you go out and get Petr Cech, if Chelsea are willing to sell to a rival club that is. And Liverpool are also suitors."

"He's the sort of player that can come in and provide the sort of presence which will make the defence feel settled."

Under fire Pellegrini's fab for Zab

By MIKE MURRAY

MANCHESTER City defender Pablo Zabaleta has leapt to the defence of under-fire boss Manuel Pellegrini.

The star blasted back at the City snipers who have branded their season a "disaster". And the iconic Blues stopper says Pellegrini deserves more respect for what he has achieved with the team.

The Argentine ace was not trying to sweep a disappointing season under the carpet, but he says the reaction to one trophy-less season is ridiculous.

"We must be honest with ourselves and recognise that it was not our best season but sometimes football is like that," said Zabaleta.

"You look at Liverpool, Arsenal, they are also some of the greatest teams and they've not won that many trophies in the last few years.

"But at City it seems one disappointing season is like a disaster. Maybe it's because we've won the Premier League twice, the FA Cup, the Capital One Cup.

"Now it seems like because we have not won something it's a disaster and we have to change seven or eight players and the manager — that's what people say."

Speculation

City are well placed to finish second in the league behind champions-elect Chelsea, with rivals United and Arsenal still to play each other and the Blues yet to face trips to Spurs and Swansea and have home games against QPR and Southampton.

But the fact that they have won nothing has brought intense speculation about Pellegrini's position, harking back to Roberto Mancini's final season.

He at least reached an FA Cup final, but one major difference between him and Pellegrini is the fact that the Italian had enemies, within the dressing room and the hierarchy of the club.

Mancini was sacked because his bosses decided the football had become stale — which has been the case for Pellegrini — but the disharmony in the camp, which is not the case at the moment, undoubtedly influenced the decision.

Doubts over the future of Pellegrini are dragged out whenever the team loses — and sometimes when they win, as happened on Saturday.

Zabaleta added: "The manager deserves more respect from everyone. He came last season, he won the league and the Capital One. We cannot blame just the manager for this."

"Individual players have not been great in the whole season. Everyone is responsible — when you don't win titles it can be a little bit frustrating."

"But we have to wait until the end of the season. Now is not the time to be thinking about what went wrong."

TITLE COUNTDOWN: LEICESTER

HE MADE IT ALL: Eden Hazard celebrates another goal from a stellar season

FOXES WAIT ON KEY TRIO

By JOHN ANTHONY

LEICESTER are facing a mini-injury crisis ahead of the visit from Chelsea tonight.

Foxes boss Nigel Pearson says he'll wait until the last possible minute before deciding whether to risk crocks David Nugent, Jamie Vardy (left) and Jeff Schlupp.

Should the first two be out, City will be facing the same kind of striker shortage as their more illustrious visitors.

Nugent and Schlupp are both struggling to shake off calf strains, while Vardy played against Burnley after a pain-killing injection in his foot.

Pearson wouldn't name names but he says there are several other Leicester players that are nowhere near full fitness after their epic effort to get out of the bottom three.

He said: "We have picked up some injuries in games, like Nugent and Schlupp, so we will have to assess them to see if they are available for this game or even the match at the weekend.

"On top of that we have Vardy's situation having to have injections. We have other knocks."

"It is not too bad a turnaround getting the players ready for this game, but then of course it becomes the situation of the game being earlier on Saturday having played on a Wednesday."

"The considerations we will make will be based on what is right for Leicester City and that is it."

TOP AND BOTTOM OF IT

Crucial clash for both ends of Prem table

By TREVOR CLEMENTS

THEY stand just 180 minutes from the title and, hand on heart, the blues deserve it.

It pains all us supporters of different clubs to admit it but they are this season's best team.

Their manager may not be the most loveable, cuddly teddy bear but which one of us — don't care who you support — wouldn't welcome him with open arms?

So they have the best team, the best manager in Jose Mourinho and the (officially) best player around in Eden Hazard who was saluted as top dog by his peers as the PFA Player Of The Year on Sunday night.

They will not have it easy tonight because City have made giant strides from the foot of the table to a position narrowly out of the danger zone.

Outstanding

But in Hazard they possess a player who no less a judge than Alan Shearer says is probably the best in the world.

Shearer said: "The accolade will mean a lot to him."

He has been the Premier League's outstanding player over the whole campaign, and he deserves individual recognition.

"That is how I felt in 1995 when I won the title with Blackburn Rovers and was also Player of the Year for the first time."

In Mourinho, Chelsea possess a manager who would be equally effective as a politician or comedian.

Questioned about the Arsenal fans' taunts of "boring, boring Chelsea" after their goalless draw at the Emirates Stadium on Sunday he just shrugged his shoulders.

"Ten years without a title," he said. "That's what I call boring."

Mourinho lacks nothing in confidence, as we all know.

He said the PFA Team of the Year should have been made up entirely of Chelsea players.

Branislav Ivanovic, John Terry, Gary Cahill, Hazard,

Nemanja Matic and Diego Costa were all named in the Premier League XI on Sunday.

When asked if any other Chelsea players deserved a spot in the Team of the Year, the Portuguese boss said: "Yes. All of them. I think so."

"But I know that this is a Chelsea manager speaking and obviously I respect every one of the players that were in that team."

"And especially everyone that chooses. The players from the other teams have the right to choose. Great players were in that team and outside that team."

"This season Fabregas is doing the number of assists, the quality of his game and not to be there is a bit strange."

"I think that team wouldn't win the Premier League. It's a team without any balance. That team is missing a midfield player. I think that midfield player should be Fabregas."

Golden

David De Gea, Ryan Bertrand, Alexis Sanchez, Philippe Coutinho and Harry Kane joined Chelsea's stars in the Team of the Year.

Mourinho retains tons of respect for Foxes midfielder Esteban Cambiasso, who was an integral part of his 'golden team' that won so much at Inter Milan.

Mourinho guided Inter to a famous treble in the 2009/10 season, winning Serie A, Coppa Italia and Champions League.

The Portuguese tactician believes Cambiasso was key to his success in Italy and remains a 'phenomenal' player at the age of 34 for Leicester. And he insisted the Foxes will stay up.

"I won the treble with Cambiasso," Mourinho said. "He belongs to my golden team, was fundamental in my golden team."

"He's one of the players who means a lot to me, and he's been phenomenal for them. I'm very happy for him."

"Next season, for sure, he will play for Leicester in the Premier League again."

The Blues travel to the King Power Stadium to face a home side enjoying a run of four wins as part of their best run in the top flight since the mid-Sixties.

A fifth straight victory could lift Nigel Pearson's side to 15th in the standings and four points clear of the drop, and Mourinho believes they will stay up.

He added: "I think Leicester are playing well, have good players, lots of players..."

"There's a good squad, with two players in every position from keeper to strikers."

"They have options for every position, are playing well, have more home games than away games left."

"They are playing away against teams in the same area of the table as they are which must help them."

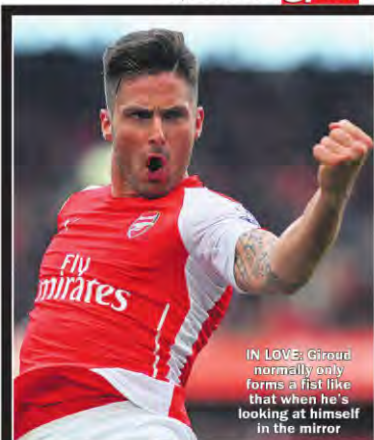

"The Chelsea game is a match they have in hand. QPR and Burnley have played 34 already."

"So their situation is very good."

"For the quality of their team, I think they are going to survive, yes."

As for his own side, a win tonight and another at home to Crystal Palace on Sunday will hand Chelsea the title.

It's only a question of when.

IN LOVE: Giroud normally only forms a fist like that when he's looking at himself in the mirror

Giroud: I'm too sexy for England

By JOHN ANTHONY

ARSENAL pretty-boy Olivier Giroud has got the hump over people obsessing with his looks.

Get over yourself, son, give us Kelly Brook any day. But he has said he "gets pissed" when people obsess over his features.

The Frenchman starred in an advert for the Rainbow Laces campaign at the beginning of the season in which he winked down the camera and said: "I can't change that I'm gorgeous."

He was later voted Paddy Power's inaugural Hottest Premier League Player after the betting company surveyed 250

American women and the striker, who has scored 14 Premier League goals this season. He thanked his parents "for making me this way" in an acceptance speech.

Asked what the secret was behind his good looks, "It's down to a hairdryer! That's it, nothing more." Plainly.

But Giroud is not willing to entertain questions of this nature any more after admitting he is angry with people focusing on his aesthetics.

He said: "I don't want to speak any more about my appearance, my hair or anything, I get pissed about that."

Poor old you.

Meanwhile across the side of London which concentrates on its football, not its hairdo...

John Terry believes Chelsea team-mate Gary Cahill is the best English defender in the country.

Cahill has bounced back from a drop in form earlier in the year, when his place in the first team came under threat from Kurt Zouma.

The 29-year-old said last month he was ready to fight for his place and has since been in tremendous form as Chelsea close in on their first title for five years.

England coach Roy Hodgson has a number of options to call upon including Chris Smalling, Phil Jones, Phil Jagielka, plus emerging youngsters like John Stones.

Former England captain Terry quit international football in 2012, but is convinced Cahill, who already has 34 caps, is the stand-out option Hodgson has to call upon.

He said: "Gary is a big character."

"He has been different class and is England's best centre back. For me he has been brilliant all season long."

PREMIER LEAGUE TITLE COUNTDOWN

COSTA BRAVER!

CHELSEA gaffer Jose Mourinho will take a gamble on the fitness of Diego Costa tonight.

The blues visit an upbeat Leicester City knowing a win could see their hands on the Premier League pot with another success at home to Crystal Palace on Sunday.

The talisman striker Costa hasn't featured for the last three Premier League games but Blues boss Mourinho wants the championship put to bed as soon as possible.

And a 90 per cent fit Costa is better than no Costa at all against Foxes who have finally worked out how to kill the chickens with four wins in a row.

Injury

The Spain international has not played at all since the London club's 2-1 victory over Stoke City on April 4.

He was withdrawn just 11 minutes into his appearance from the bench after suffering a recurrence of a troublesome hamstring injury.

But Mourinho intends to take a full squad as they prepare for their clash with Nigel Pearson's side, and says he may well risk Costa.

By TREVOR CLEMENTS

He said: "I don't know about Diego Costa. I have to think about if it deserves a gamble or if we wait a few more days to be completely sure."

"If it was a player without an injury history I would play him tomorrow, but because he is a player with a history I have to think about that."

However, Mourinho does not intend to make too many changes to his starting side after their 0-0 draw with Arsenal at the weekend.

"I don't plan to make many changes. I know Leicester played on Saturday and we played on Sunday, but we will try to recover the players as best we can," he said. "We prepare as best we can."

"Our squad is very short with the injuries we have and so there is no space for a lot of rotation."

The Stamford Bridge club is already on a high after their youth team sealed a fourth Cup win in six years with a 5-2 aggregate victory, in front of delighted owner Roman Abramovich, over Man City on Monday night.
